Our company is now offering four industrial scholarships, each year, each paying $500 per year for four years. Either employees or the sons of employees may compete for these scholarships. Possibly one of the best channels for cooperation between the technical schools and industry is, through the teachers. The instructor should be thoroughly acquainted with the work for which his students are being trained before he can hope to secure the best results. The industries should cooperate with teachers in keeping them supplied with literature and information about their product. During these times the technical schools as well as industry are facing a number of very serious problems. The period is coming shortly when you will have to reman your organization. What kind of training are you going to require for teachers. If some practical experience is considered advisable for technical graduates before taking up responsible positions in industry, why should the same requisit not exist for those who are to enter teaching? I am quite sure that our organization would be willing to cooperate with the technical schools in this connection. We can assist by offering our graduate student training to a number of graduates, each year, who are selected by the various schools to take up engineering teaching. A schedule could be worked out to give these men experience along certain lines according to the needs of the school. In case it was felt desirable to secure...
